Who is Your Creator?

by

Sharon L. Flesher

What happens when we expect others, the world, government, society, money, and creation in general to create the answer to our problems and needs? What are our needs? (Example: approval, love, support, salvation, healing, .....etc.)

Are people able to give us what we need, or is it God only who "supplieth all our need" ? Are we breaking a commandment of God when we look to others for what we need? Is this fair to do to other people?

These are all very fair questions of which I hope to shed some inspirational light. I believe that if we understood our role in creation we would have little to no anger or frustration. For it is in our constant battle to acquire what we think we need that we end up in the messes we are in. When we try to fulfill God's role in our own lives and in others and expect them to reciprocate this, we have become the enemies of God and our world will be a mess!

Who is your Creator?

Okay, notice, I did not say, "who is THE Creator", why? We all know the bible says that God is the only Creator. So mentally we know that God is the only creator. However, most do not understand the meaning of this. If God is the only creator, then why do we look to others to solve our problems and to sustain us and give us what we need. The reason is, we want to "control" our world. We cannot control God, but we can, or so we think we can, control those around us and our environment! This is what man has done, he has decided to believe God doesn't exist so he can become his own god. This is the dark side of man, that part that keeps company with the dead and if he doesn't change, he will soon become the dead. Man secretly and sometimes openly wishes to be god and in doing so attempts to create a world he can control and use.

It is in this struggle to be god, that man finds many griefs and sorrows for little does he know that he cannot. It is impossible. So he fights for all he needs, his egocentric self needs, and like someone trying to milk a rock, fails miserably in the process and it all ends in anger and resentment. So he is angry that the rock dared to defy him, resentful for every rock he sees, and fearful of every rock he's about to encounter for his next demand is sure to be turned down in such a dreadful manner as the first.

This is how we are when we look for pure holy love in others and our needs fulfilled by the world. When we strive for the support and strength we need from God through others we are bound to be angry and frustrated and we unnecessarily place many burdens on others which they cannot fulfill. Yes, we act as if our spouse or friends were the source of life itself! We put all our hopes and dreams on another person, in cars, homes, and bank accounts. We look to education for self esteem and to little children to fulfill us. This is not fair or good and will result in many broken dreams and hearts.

To make it even worse, those whom you look at, and hope to get what you need from, they see your desire and capitalize on it! Thinking, "hey, I've got something they need. What can I get out of them?" Bartering, stepping on, warring against, lusting after, and competing....round and round it goes! Anger and resentment builds as people struggle to milk those rocks. Blisters forming, frustration setting in as each failure is made.

It is in this struggling, that we lose our joy, peace, and God. For we are not "praying" to Him anymore. We are seeking and asking others, not Him. We aren't looking to His providing hand, but to our own craftiness and ability to 'get'. We have broken the very first commandment, "Thou shalt have no other God's before me." It is in this breaking away from God, that we find the path to death and destruction.

True harmony, in our spirit, soul, and body, can only come when we align ourselves with God, not against Him. As long as we are at odds against Him, we will suffer many things. Man was not designed to be God, to care for himself, sustain himself, and have a kingdom apart from God. Man is creation, not Creator. When we step outside of this role, apart from the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we will make a mess of things very quickly and sorrow will fill our hearts. This is the reason for addictions. Mankind can't live without real love and be happy. God didn't create you that way. So without Him you are empty. There is NOTHING, let me repeat that.....NOTHING.....in this world outside of God Himself that will bring you true love and peace of heart and mind.

All this world offers is the equivalent of temporary patches, bandaids to your gaping wound. Momentary joyous moments which fade quickly. This empty hole in your heart, this constant searching for the next momentary "fix", the world holds no answer for. Your Creator is the only ONE who can give you that "fix" that won't leave, but more on that later.

So.....just who is creating in your life? Are you trying to make your own way in the world? This is what society has taught us, to be our own man, to stand up for ourselves, and to be all we can be. But tell me this, how can the creation give itself answers? It can't. It doesn't have the ability to do that, and this is why you are constantly frustrated with the feeling of "lack". Lacking love, approval, support, friends, money, happiness, peace, health, etc. It is the dirtiest trick in the book pulled on humans and believed by the devil himself, that mankind and creatures can exist outside of the Creator.

It is impossible to exist outside of God! Let me say that again.....it is impossible to exist outside of God. He is all there is. If you turn against Him, you turn against life itself, and that is why those who disobey Him will die. Not because He is mean, but because He is Life. God is not religion. Don't think that I am pushing religion here, because I am not. Religion killed Christ, okay? Religion is a set of laws or rules made up by people and enforced through pressure. That is NOT who God is! It is NOT what God does! He is the Creator caring for His creation and reconciling it all back to Him. For the sake of clarity here I will give you a brief overview of religion and I suggest that if you attend a church who uses these techniques, to get out while you can!

Here is the #1 warning sign that you are in a dangerous church that is not of God. I'm going to put it in two words.....

Guilt tripping! If your pastor/church is constantly pushing or pulling, it is demonic. God convicts, demons guilt trip and play off of your emotions and guilty conscience to shame you into doing what they want. The passing of the offering plate, the sobb stories before the offering plate, the honoring of members who "behave", and the advancement in ranking of those who fit their mold? All these methods are demonic and are guilt tripping and are NOT of God. These are mind control methods used by people like Hitler! If your church is like this please get out.....

Most churches have a hierarchy (a structure and ladder of importance). This is not of God. God said to "wash each others feet". If you want to be great, then serve the others and forget about yourself. It isn't about tithing and titles and parking spaces, okay? All who do these things will answer to God one day for what they have done!

Here is what it is all about. What it means to walk with God and the place where your heart must one day come to be to walk in harmony with God. It is perhaps a place you will quickly remember as it is where you were when you first fell in love with God and found your salvation, sitting at His feet, wide eyed and tear jerked for the love and forgiveness He has for you. Your heart will cry out..... "I love you Lord! What can I do for you today because I want to bless you and make you smile, because I love you, and because I am so very thankful. I pray to You in secret, because only You know my heart and I only tell You those deep things. I fast in secret because I know only You have my answers and only You I look to to help me. I serve You Lord, God in the secret confines of my own heart! I don't want trophies or rewards. I want to hear, "well done, thou good and faithful". I'm putting my treasures where my heart is, and my heart is not on this earth, but in heaven with You! I don't want to become like the world... loving money, positions, titles, and all those things for all of those things will quickly fade away. I want to find You and be with You forever!"

What is church supposed to be like?

A pastor is a shepherd. This person is supposed to be watching out for your well-being, not devouring you! If your spirit isn't fed, and you aren't growing spiritually and by this I mean in spiritual knowledge, gifts, and wisdom, you are being robbed and probably on the verge of spiritually devoured! Guilt tripping will dangerously harm you. If this is happening to you, get out of that church!

You should walk away from a sermon with "understanding". Not with head knowledge, but heart knowledge! Your spirit will actually "grow" if the sermon is from the Holy Spirit and you will be blessed. You will be able to "use" what you have learnt, just like a real sheep with a fine meal. The fruit of the Holy Spirit will be present if the sermon is from God, meaning that you will exude peace, joy, wisdom, conviction with sweet repentance, forgiveness, and understanding. If you are not getting this out of your church, get out of your church!

Why? There is only ONE Creator, ONE Spirit, if He is not feeding you, then who is? Don't ever let people lead you. People who do not have the Spirit of God in them and are not listening to and giving you the Word directly from God will mislead you. There is a saying, "you can learn no more than your teacher", okay? If your teacher is man, you are doomed and destined to know only what he does. If he learnt what he knows from demons, then you will only know what a demon knows. Never subject yourself to man. Your teacher is the Holy Spirit. You have no need for any man to teach you and only those who are led of the Holy Spirit can truly teach.

How do you know who is His and who isn't? Jesus said, "you will know them by their fruits". If that person doesn't exude the power of God in their life, stay away from what they say with their lips. You can fake righteousness on many levels, but you cannot fake the power of God!

The Creator

"Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." This is the first commandment.

The word "Commandment" means 'signpost' or to 'point the way'. The ten commandments are signposts to heaven. It isn't as we've made it out to be, God with a big hammer waiting to smash us at the first sign of disobedience, but God came to earth, showed us the way, and died for us on the cross!

Our Savior was tempted just like us and suffered a horrible death so you and I wouldn't have to. He gave us a free will, His Spirit to guide us, and His angels to keep us. When we break commandments, we have broken from the pathway of God and gone off the road! We missed the signpost, okay? Doing this will lead to death. Going away from Life (God) you will find death. It is as simple as that.

It is in understanding that the Creator is the source of life, our life, that we find that there is no other source of being or existence. When we begin to look to Him, instead of other sources for our need that we find our place in creation.

All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made. John 1:3

God is the sole creator of man. He is all-knowing, all-powerful, and all-present, meaning...He sees everything there is to see, knows everything there is to know, has the only power there is to have, and is always present to boot!

A god is someone whom you serve, right? Someone whom you look to to provide and oversee. God Almighty is saying, don't put anyone in my place! Why? There isn't anyone! There is only ONE God and it is Him. If you put something else in His place, it can't help you. You will die because you believed a lie that something else could save you. God doesn't want this to happen. God is for you, not against you. He isn't trying to bash you in the head with "His ways" to prove that HE is God.

He is your Creator. He made you. If you think about it, ponder on it, you will understand that only a Creator could care and provide and know what His creation needs. He said that His burden was light. He is not asking you to be the Creator to others or to yourself, but to trust Him and follow Him.

Man as Creator

In your life right now....who is creating the 'answers' for you? When you get a solution to a problem, who gave it to you? What do you think might happen if demons give you all the solutions to your problems in life?

If you worry and then get the answer.....God did not respond. God doesn't move on doubt, so if you worry to find your answers, your answers will come from the 'dark side'.

This is how you get lost and die....you follow the dead. They believed in themselves, too. They trusted their 'own' minds. They thought they were in control and now, look where they are at. Is this how you want to live?

This is what happens when man, in his pride, tries to assume the role of His creator to himself and to others. When mankind begins to try and fix his own problems, make his own way, and secure his own future, create his own joy, and give and get his own love, he is already doomed for failure as he doesn't have any source from which to bring it. This in turn causes him great frustration as he vainly tries to be 'God'. Puffed up in his imaginary mind of self importance he continues striving for glory, power, wealth, fame, and success.

Sin has its pleasure for a moment and so he goes from moment to moment with highs and lows and blowing with every wind that comes his way, every doctrine, every thought that appears to benefit him in his ways.

Each moment of triumph, be it a trophy or a new pair of shoes, leads to more despair as he realises the emptiness of each accomplishment and eventually not even the strongest drink, the most potent drug, or loudest music or most glorious pair of shoes can drown out the pain. Many give into the overwhelming sense of separation from God/Life and kill themselves. Others keep numbing their emotions till they hit the grave where they are soon to discover an even more painful world than the one they left and begin to feed off of the afflicted of the world till their days are up! Do you want this to be your story?

Who can save us from this? Who can rescue us from ourselves and this world, the twisted love of others? Can your wife, your husband, your children or parents....seeing that they are in the same boat as you....I think not.

Only God can save mankind. Not religion, not mankinds interpretation of God, but God Himself, His Spirit living and moving in you. Him in His glorious wonderful presence. It is the place of peace, of no condemnation...the place of innocence and joy.

Only when you humble yourself and turn to Him, cry out and look to Him for what you need can you truly be saved. When you repent, see the error of your ways, and turn to Him instead of yourself and to others to rescue you, then you will find true peace and the world will not hold sway over you anymore. When all you do is done unto Him, then you will find joy and peace and true love. Only God has pure love. You won't need the love and approval of others, and they won't be burdened by your needs that they can't fulfill so you will be able to love them freely and for their good.

Suddenly, the sun is brighter, the grass is greener and your smile will never end! All your hopes, all your dreams, all your heart is held by the One who created the stars you can't count. His angels watch over you while you sleep safely at night, His Spirit teaches you all things, and He calls you son! At night you curl up like a small child in the palm of His holy hand and know that it is His goodness that keeps you.

One day, the day you live for, you will return unto Him, spirit, soul, and body and God will smile when He sees you coming and you will hear those words, "well done my son....welcome home" .....
